To get in touch with a city, you have to feel the stones. The memories, written in the stones. You have to get in touch with centuries of love, pride, wars and discoveries that ran through that city. For each and every person that lived in a city, left a mark, a memory. A story. Their story. Our story.

6.000.000 monuments

Dear _____,

I have just visited Pobrežje cemetery in Maribor, Slovenia. I have seen monuments, stories and legends and learned the history of the city and Europe. Amazing. Next week I will visit Vienna central cemetery and afterwards travel all other Significant cemeteries of Europe.

In case you were wondering, the European Cemeteries Route is a consolidated cultural product of ASCE, through which citizens and visitors will get in touch with the important cultural heritage reflected in the cemeteries.

Route consists of 63 cemeteries in 50 cities and 20 European countries. Instead of being an fixed pre-established circuit, Route offers a wide variety of cemeteries already opened to the public through number of events. With major cemeteries as members it attracts millions of visitors per year.

It is recognized by European institute of Cultural routes as cultural route of Europe. In 2011 Route received the Ulysses Prize award for achievement of excellence by United Nations World Tourism Organization.

Join me in research of this amazing cultural heritage, resting in cemeteries.

Yours faithfully,
